
ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

We at Furaha are conscious of our social responsibilities with regards to helping the environment for our descendants but also to rehabilitate the damage previously done. We believe that our corporate responsibility goes beyond our proprietary borders and therefore every effort will be made to conserve resources throughout our operations.

We will set targets and take steps to ensure on-going improvement, working with our clients to minimise our collective impact on the environment. Furaha will try to not only meet existing environmental laws and regulation, but will endeavour to go beyond the status quo and see techniques and approaches that position us ahead of our competition.

WE ARE COMMITTED TO:

- Comply with the specific legislative requirements of the county that we operate.
- Include the consideration of all environmental issues in all our strategies and indicatives.
- Minimise toxic emissions caused by grilling, frying and general food preparation.
- Ensuring that senior management committed to the protection of the environment and that it is firmly embedded in both the company's and all the employees culture and will endeavour to influence our suppliers and clients in a similar strategic environmental manner.
- Promote the effective use of environmentally friendly biodegradable materials, detergents and cleaning chemicals.
- Actively promote recycling of waste and old cooking oil both internally and amongst our clients and suppliers.
- Assessing risk of all our business in both current and prospective business projects.
- Ensure that our carbon footprint is reduced by turning off all electrical appliances when not in use and purchasing equipment consume less power or gas.

Furaha is committed to continual improvement of environmental performance. This policy will be communicated to all staff, contactors, suppliers and clients and be available to the public through selected media.
